

CHARCOAL CLASS

Charcoal class members are getting to know each other and have been working hard in their lessons, saying the following about them:

English - we haven't done any writing yet but have done lots of talking. Food tech - we like cooking and eating! So far we have made coconut ice, pies and shortbread. In Maths we have learnt about place values. We have made our own power point presentations and using new skills in Computing. In Discovery, we are learning about New York. We liked Science as we tried different foods. We made music with our own bodies using STOMP. Charcoal class had the opportunity to try skateboarding - there were some excellent skills learnt and shown.

Members of Charcoal class are also completing Hollywater Miles which is 11 laps around the playground.

Charcoal class staff (Ms Dawson, Miss Booker and Mrs Shields) are impressed with how well our students are settling into the new term at Hollywater either as new or returning students.
